National CASA Association
Training Workshops

National CASA's professional training team is able to offer in-person and web-based training for state and local programs. Generally, local programs coordinate with their state office to schedule a training workshop in their area. If you are interested in exploring the possibility of a National CASA trainer providing training in your area, please complete form below.

Training Workshops offered:

Training of Facilitators (TOF): In-person Version
In order to better prepare CASA/GAL staff to deliver the 2007 National CASA Volunteer Training Curriculum, this 2- to 3-day TOF focuses on effective facilitation skills for adult education.

Training of Facilitators: Blended Version
The Blended Version TOF for the 2007 National CASA Volunteer Training Curriculum consists of two webinars, a 1½- to 2-day in-person training, and self-guided work prior to the classroom component.

Flex Learning Training of Facilitators: Web-Based Version
The web-based TOF for the Flex Learning Volunteer Training Curriculum consists of three 90 minute webinars and self-guided work prior to the initial webinar session.

Flex Learning Training of Facilitators: In-person Version
The in-person TOF for the Flex Learning Volunteer Training Curriculum consists of self-guided work prior to a 1- to 2-day classroom component. In addition to hands-on work with the online course, it features an interactive experience of case study facilitation.

Knowing Who You Are (KWYA)
KWYA explores ways for staff and volunteers to help youth in care develop their racial and ethnic identity. Prior to the 2-day in-person training, participants view a video and complete a 4-6 hour interactive e-learning course.

Knowing Who You Are Training of Facilitators
The KWYA TOF is geared towards state organizations that are committed to providing the KWYA experience to their local programs. Participants in the TOF must complete a number of requirements before being certified as KWYA trainers.

Fostering Futures Training of Facilitators*:* Web Version
The web-based TOF for the Fostering Futures Curriculum consists of a 90 minute webinar. Prior to the webinar, participants are asked to complete a 2- to 4-hour self-guided interactive e-learning course.

Fostering Futures Training of Facilitators*:* In-person Version
The in-person TOF for the Fostering Futures Curriculum consists of self-guided work prior to a 1½- day classroom component. The in-person training models the Fostering Futures Curriculum and focuses on effective facilitation skills for adult education.
